

THE GLOBE PROGRAM

GLOBE INTERNATIONAL STEM NETWORK NEWSLETTER

Welcome to the GLOBE International STEM Network (GISN) newsletter! The GISN is a network of professionals with backgrounds in science, technology, engineering, mathematics and more, who promote Earth science education across the globe. The goal of this quarterly newsletter is to share current news, research highlights, and upcoming GLOBE events that pertain to GISN members.

Current GISN News and Updates

Currently, GLOBE is updating the GISN web pages on the GLOBE website to make them more concise and user-friendly in relation to important pages for GISN members.

GLOBE is also in the process of establishing a GISN identifier/category for the STEM Professional Blogs, which will allow GISN members to tag their blogs.

Ways to Participate

Remember, there are several “Ways to Participate” as a GISN member!! Here are a few to consider:

- Mentor a GLOBE Student or Teacher.
- Reach out to a GLOBE Classroom.
- Conduct GLOBE Research or collect GLOBE Data.
- Participate in a GLOBE Campaign or Data Challenge.

- Be a judge for IVSS or a local GLOBE symposia.

Upcoming GLOBE Events

The 2022 GLOBE Annual Meeting will take place virtually from 25 - 28 July. Registration is now open! This year, seven GISN members will support the winning 2022 IVSS students' independent research projects that include at least one GLOBE Protocol across two GLOBE Spheres. The volunteer members come from all six GLOBE regions: Oluwafemi Olawale (Africa), Francis Emralino and Dexter Vile Laurden (Asia and Pacific), Nekataria Adaktylou (Europe and Eurasia), Ana Prieto (Latin America and Caribbean), Hameed Mohamed (Near East and North Africa, and Larisa Schelkin (North America).

Communicating GLOBE in Changing Times

Please join the GISN Networking Session at the Annual Meeting. It will take place on Tuesday, 27 July at 7am MDT. It is open to current and prospective members!

GISN Member(s) and Research Highlights

This section will highlight member profiles and research being conducted by current GISN members. If you have recent publications related to your work, within or outside of GLOBE, let us know!
