

The relationship between Cloud types and Stargazing possibility in Kinmen

National Kinmen Senior High School
Taiwan Partnership

1. Observing the relationship between cloud species and stargazing opportunities

2. observe temperature changes

3. Analysis of the relationship between changes in cloud cover in winter and summer evenings and nighttime stargazing

-Rainfall and temperature of Kinmen from October 2021 to February 2022

From July to September (on the left side of the figure), the average daily temperature is high, and after October (on the right side of the figure), the average daily temperature drops and the temperature is low.