

Become a U.S. GLOBE Partner

What is the role of a GLOBE Partner?

U.S. GLOBE Partners facilitate the implementation of the GLOBE Program in their state or service area. Partners support formal and informal educator professional development, citizen scientist participation, and learner inquiry and research on the environment. GLOBE Partners have three main responsibilities:

1. Recruit participants to the GLOBE Program.
2. Provide training on using GLOBE protocols to collect and enter data into the GLOBE database.
3. Provide support and mentorship to ensure the sustainability and growth of the GLOBE Program.

What are the benefits of becoming a GLOBE Partner?

- Enhance what you offer to your current audience by adding GLOBE scientific data collection protocols and resources for local research.
- Be eligible for funding opportunities available to GLOBE Partners.
- Share best practices with a network of organizations dedicated to learning about and broadening participation in Earth Systems Science.
- Gain access to resources and events for your professional learning.
- Take advantage of collaboration through GLOBE's network of 100+ U.S. Partnership organizations and 125+ participating countries.
- Use GLOBE to provide learners with new and impactful opportunities.

About GLOBE

- Millions of participating citizen scientists
- 250+ million Earth observations available in open-access GLOBE database
- 30 years of data collected
- More than 350,000 database queries per year
- 1,000+ publications

Questions?

usglobeoffice@gmail.com

Do GLOBE, Do Science

Who Is Eligible?

Each U.S. GLOBE Partner must have a formal affiliation with an academic, nonprofit or governmental organization with complementary goals to GLOBE's mission. This organization becomes the GLOBE Partnership. Organizations can include:

- Institutions of higher education
- School districts
- Libraries
- State Departments of Education
- Recognized informal education organizations (501c3) such as STEM learning centers, museums, or foundations

How to Become a U.S. GLOBE Partner

Navigate to the "Become a GLOBE U.S. Partner" website using the QR code below. Under the heading "How to Become a U.S. GLOBE Partner," find the following resources:

1. Review the Responsibilities and Expectations of GLOBE Partners.
2. Download the Partner Letter Template.

Use the template to submit your application and get the process started.

This process is for organizations within the United States.

"Become a GLOBE
U.S. Partner"
GLOBE.gov

Active GLOBE Partnerships

To remain an active GLOBE Partnership, please hold at least one GLOBE training each year. This can be for educators in formal or informal settings, and can be at the pre-service or in-service level.

DOWNLOAD THE APP

SPONSORED BY

SUPPORTED BY

LEARN MORE

GLOBE.gov

Global Learning and Observations to Benefit the Environment